History and activities of the department of the Uzbek language and literature

On October 21, 1989 in connection with the assignment of the status of “State language” to Uzbek language new departments were opened in higher educational institutions of Uzbekistan. In 1990 for the first time an Uzbek language department was organized at the institute.

The head of the department was appointed senior teacher of Andijan state university E. Dadakhuzhaev.

Initially, teachers of Uzbek language M. Kuziboeva, N. Rakhmatova worked at the department, and since August 1990 M. Akhunova, A. Abdullaev, Z. Rakhmatova joined them.

In 2000, G. Kobuljonova had a degree of candidate of philological sciences and became the head of the joint department of Uzbek and Russian languages. Under the guidance of docent G. Kobulzhonova, 4 senior teachers, 6 teachers, the head of the cabinet and two laboratory assistants worked at the department.

Since 2008, the department became known as the “Department of Languages, pedagogy and psychology”. The department was headed by docent L.U. Khodjaeva. The department consisted of sections of "Uzbek language", "Russian language", "Latin language". New subjects were added - “Pedagogical psychology” and “Teacher's speech culture”.

Starting from 2011-2012, the department was headed by docent L.S. Khudayberdieva and the section “Foreign languages” was added to the department. In connection with the introduction of new subjects “Professional psychology”, “Theory of pedagogy”, “Professional pedagogy”, “New pedagogical technologies”, “Pedagogical mastery”, classes began to be held at a high methodological level.

Over the past years, the staff of the department actively participated in international and republican scientific and practical conferences, became authors of more than 200 scientific, educational and methodical articles, created over 10 educational and methodical manuals. In particular, a group of teachers of Uzbek language created a textbook “Uzbek language” for Russian-speaking groups, teachers of Russian language - “Russian language” (2007). A collection of lectures for students in the field of medical pedagogy “Pedagogy” (2007), an educational and methodological manual “New Pedagogical Technologies” (2009), a manual for students of the direction of nursing affairs, a study guide on the subject of “Pedagogy” (2009), were also created. “Exercises and assignments in pedagogy” (2010), “New pedagogical technologies” (2011), “Exercises in the Uzbek language”, “Handbook of Russian language” (2012), “Phrasebook on Russian language” (2013), study guide “ Uzbek language ” textbook “Russian language” (2014), textbook “Pedagogical excellence” (2016), manual for residents of masters` degree department “Speech culture of a doctor-teacher” (2017), “Scientific methodology of the Russian language” for national groups (2018), textbook “Russian language”(2019).

At the beginning of the 2019-2020 academic year, the department of foreign languages separated from the department of languages, pedagogy and psychology. The head of the department was appointed Kuziboeva Makhfuza Mirzaevna. Now, the department consists of three sections - “Uzbek language”, “Russian language”, “Latin language”. The department includes 6 senior teachers, 9 teachers. Classes are held in accordance with modern requirements of the method using interactive teaching methods.

According to the order of the rector of ASMI dated January 7, 2020 the department was renamed and it became the Uzbek language and literature department.

Scientific direction of the department:

Teaching students of national groups Russian language and the problems of forming a medical translation

Scientific research is being conducted on the basis of the basic composition:

1. Translation problems

2. Language teaching methodology

Teachers of the department published a number of teaching aids. The teachers also participated in scientific, practical conferences on various topics at the national, regional and institute levels with a number of articles and theses.

Scientific achievements of the department

The department prepared 1 candidate of philological sciences (Kobulzhonova G).

Today, N. Akhmedova, M. Abdurakhmanova, N. Buranova, M. Bekiyeva are conducting research as independent researchers.

Over 300 articles and theses on the problems of translation, teaching methods of linguistics, general linguistics have been published.

The department has several sections in which the tradition of "Mentor - Successor" is always exist. Experienced teachers, based on many years of experience, help young teachers, control knowledge, conduct mutual visits, analyze lessons and provide methodological and didactic recommendations, learn to use new pedagogical technologies and help in writing abstracts and articles.

The department's library has over 100 titles of literature, 50 electronic textbooks, lectures, presentations, and educational films. There are teaching aids for all practical classes, educational and methodological complexes in subjects in 4 languages.

Every year, students take part in the Republican Olympiad in the subjects "Russian language", "Uzbek language", "Pedagogy and psychology" and they get good results. On the basis of the Regulation and the plan of work with gifted students, a number of events are held.

Based on the modern requirements of education, modern pedagogical technologies are widely introduced at the department.

The main tasks of the teachers of the department are to teach students to independently and rationally use information from the Internet. Therefore, in the educational process, it is important to create conditions for their independence.

Our teachers in their activities rely on the didactic questions "Why do we teach?", "What do we teach?", "How do we teach?" And try to enrich their classes with new content. In particular, when teaching languages, teachers develop students' skills in presenting, working on new vocabulary, and using them in speech. They use the technology "Weak Link", "Cluster", "Sinkwine", "Fish Skeleton", "Snowball", which develop logical, associative thinking in students.

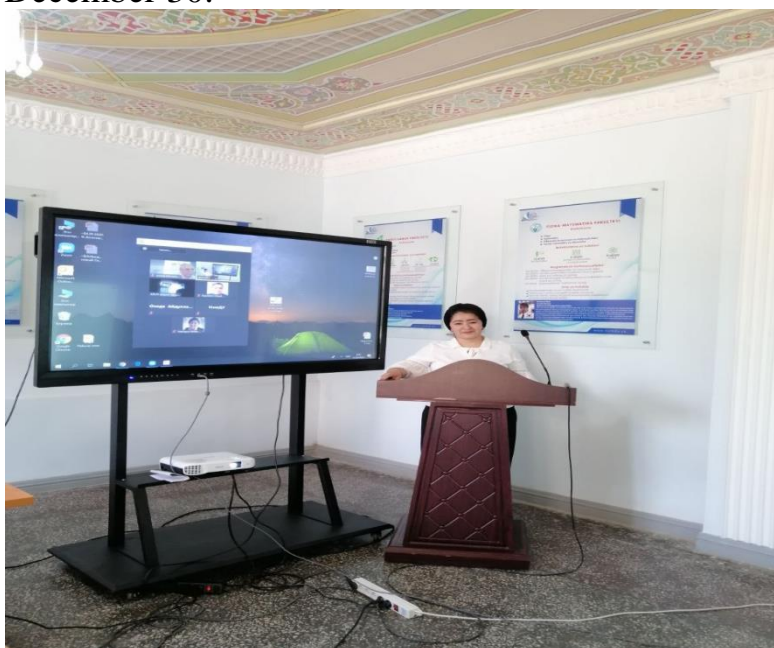

In Latin classes, teachers also use various pedagogical technologies "Concept Analysis", "Labyrinth", "Step by Step", "Blitz Game", which help to develop students' memory and use their knowledge in the necessary processes.

In the classes of "Pedagogy.Psychology" teachers use "Free carousel", "3x4", "Communication", "Debate", "Attitude", "Project work in a friendly team" (collective creative work), LEU (observation, assessment) are used , persuasion), IMAK (school of persuasion), MPMGO, consensus and confrontation (agreement and contradiction) and role-playing games.

In the educational process, using pedagogical technologies, the age characteristics of students and their abilities are taken into account. As students need to express their opinions on various issues.

The project of the seminar-training is new, the need to provide pedagogical knowledge to professors and teachers who have graduated from medical institutes and are currently engaged in pedagogical activities in the system of higher medical education of the Republic, the scientific and educational process on the basis of innovative approaches. At the methodological level, it is necessary to explain the development of professional knowledge, skills, abilities and creative activity, which are necessary for the development, improvement and implementation of best practices and technologies in the field. The project will be implemented mainly in cooperation with the German government. Kodirova M.N. explained the tasks and plans of the project on the basis of the presentation. The head of the department of Uzbek language and literature M.M.Kuzibayeva promised to establish cooperation with them, the assistant professor of the department N.D.Akhmedova noted that the project is promising, and said that she works with them in the valley on a community basis as a researcher. Kodirova M.N. answered the questions of the teachers of the department completely and clearly. Professors and teachers of the department received a lot of useful information from this meeting.

Remembrance and Appreciation Day

On May 9, the staff of the department visited the hostel of the ASMI, where they took part in an event dedicated to Day of Remembrance and Honor. A number of our teachers at the Department of Uzbek Language and Literature are no longer with us. The late L.U. Khodjayeva, who was the head of the Latin language department in 1989, played a role in the establishment of the Uzbek language department. Kh.A. Zokhidova, who worked at the Department of Latin until the separation of the department, compiled dictionaries on the Uzbek language and presented them to students. In 1990, the department was separated from the Department of Latin, and the teacher of the Department of Philology of Andijan State University E.S. Dadakhojayev headed the department. E.S. Dadakhojayev, following the traditions of teachers and students of that time, closely assisted young teachers who had just started working in the department. The memory of the late masters will live forever in our hearts.

Tutor activities

6 teachers of the department are engaged in tutoring. They are in regular contact with students and frequently visit the hostel and rented accommodation. They talk about their lifestyle, the cleanliness of the rooms, the observance of safety rules.

There are also roundtables and meetings on various topics in the dormitory.

We will make higher education a corruption-free sector

On the basis of the Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan No. PF-5729 dated May 27, 2019, the Prosecutor General's Office developed and adopted a road map for the implementation of the project "Sector without corruption" in higher education. In this regard, the department is developing measures and organizing work on the topic among teachers and students.

An essay contest on "We are against corruption" was held among students

"Towards a life without corruption"

The general public, especially young people, have a special role to play in the fight against corruption, which is a painful part of society. That is why a number of measures are being taken among students to fight crime, including corruption. The department's drawing competition entitled "Towards a life without corruption" also reflected the students' attitude to corruption.

We continue to organize meaningful work in the field of education, science, based on the principles of transparency, impartiality and fairness in our department.

The department regularly conducts preventive measures to make higher education a corruption-free field.
